LOCAL WHOLESALE TRADE

WEATHER CONDITIONS ARE MORE FAVORABLE TO SHIPPING.

The Volume of Spring Orders Is Increasing Rapidly-Demand for Building Materials Grows.

Improved weather conditions, fostering shipping and increasing the volume of spring orders, are the developments to report this week in the

Interest in the grocery line centers in the strength in the sugar market. Prices were advanced another 5 points yesterday, the second advance this week. Dry goods are firm, hardware is moving more rapidly, and boots and shoes are moving in nominal volume. The local past few days of good, "drying-out" weather has caused a much more cheerful tone Delayed shipments have been going out liberally and orders received are in greatly increased volume. It is evident that consumers are willing and anxious to buy, for they need the goods, but roads axle deep in mud and streams out over their banks was a depressing situation to face.

The market is entirely devoid of features. No remarkable changes in price lists have occurred or are likely to occur within the fortnight. Hardware men are very much pleased with the state of their trade. Builders' stocks are increasing in demand daily, as are the calls for garden tools, hose, wire screen and poultry

Druggists report their trade satisfactory i line. Paints and oils, brushes and the like are especially active. Dry goods present the same conditions reported week ago and two weeks ago. All lines are firm; in fact additional strength seems apparent each week. Nearly all the mills are on full time. The cotton workers are paying a high price for the raw, and, as all goods now being turned out are selling at advances, as soon as present stocks in distributers' hands are exhausted we

than the increased demands for canned goods and dried fruits-in the last, peaches and prunes Prices throughout are firm. Confectioners and the boot and shoe people have nothing out of the ordinary to present, both agreeing that business for the week has Collections for the week were a little slow

OIL PRICES CUT AGAIN.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. MONTPELIER, Ind., March 12 .- All olls took a tumble to-day and landed 3c lower. This makes Indiana oil $1.17 per brl. Oil men are looking gloomy over the frequent cuts in the price and are now watching the marketing as anxiously as when the price was going up at the rate of from the field can tell why the price is decreasing, shipments average about 20,000 bris more than the runs. There is strong talk of the larger producers co-operating into a big company to buy and refine oil. This is thought to have something to do with the felling prices. It may be a scheme of the Standard to buck the proposed new company before it is organized.

THE FINANCIAL OUTLOOK.

Looking ahead through the year one can see nothing but borrowers, borrowers great and small. A mighty empire and a rising kingdom, both in need of funds for war, the very wealthiest and strongest railroads that America knows, the owners of the destroyed property in Baltimore, corporations of all kinds, and individuals -all are in the market for loans. Since the fall of 1902 such of these borrowers as are domiciled in America have stood back unwillingly while the New York bankers provided the money for moving the crops. The very moment this work was done last year and this year, just so soon as cash began to flow back to the financial center. they pressed forward, clutching and scrambling each trying to outbid or outwit some rival, to get possession of the limited amount of capital available for lending. ## UNITED STATES STEEL.

A prominent manufacturer of finished steel products, who is well informed as to steel matters in general, says: "When United States Steel Corporation was formed, it controlled about 85 per cent. of the steel product of the United States; but a $15 per ton profit on steel was too tempting for capital to withstand, and new steel plants have sprung up until to-day I am buying cerns, and I figure that the United States Steel orporation now controls less than 65 per cent. of the steel product of the country. "These independent concerns have been makng money, many of them, because of their mail fixed charges in comparison with United States Steel. I know of one outside plant, which capitalized for nearly $10,000,000, which inreased its business 100 per cent. in January. compared with last year, principally in compe-tition with the American Steel and Wire Company of the United States Steel Corporation. "When the United States Steel Corporation was formed, billets were selling at $33 per ton. and the trust made a profit of $15 per ton on its capacity. Now as the company is selling only about one-half of its full capacity at an average profit of $6 per ton. I figure that the ompany is in reality making a profit of but 3 per ton on its full capacity, as compared with $15 at the time of its formation. "The course of the iron and steel market indicates that the industry is still either a 'feast or a famine.' I anticipate still more compeition for the United States Steel Corporation. Most of the leading interests in the company who made 'paper' fortunes out of its formation and then severed their connection with the company, with the exception of Messrs. Gates and his immediate associates and Moore brothers, who failed to sell their stock, are no longer millionaires. They will be looking around for

Later in the week the conditions in the general market gave buyers the advantage, and in two days they succeeded in forcing a decline of almost 25c in prices. At the extreme close of the week, however, there was a rally in the market, and at this time prices were 10c to 15c higher than the close of time in the week. The quality of current offerings has been fairly satisfactory; in fact, probyear, but hardly equal to the standard of last week on account of the more plentiful supply of ordinary grades. Again there are very few, if any, important changes to report in the sheep and lamb market in the course of a week. The supplies this week were again rather small, and, in fact there were very few days that more than enough arrived to accommodate the urgent requirements of local butchers. For this reason shippers were again practically out of the market all week and, therefore, there was lack of competition. One or two times during the week the market developed rather a weaker tendency, in sympathy with other places but the supplies were not large enough to be any advantage to buyers, and practically a week they were forced to pay about steady prices. There is no doubt, however, that a larger supply would have been sold lower.

Most of the week the best lambs have been salable as high as $6 but there have been very few here good enough to bring over $5.90 and very good kinds have sold as low as $5.75 ble to salesmen. "His schoolroom was under the roof of his home. An outline map hung upon the wall, and on the table behind which he sat when he was not in motion was an apparatus with which he demonstrated to the class in national philosophy. The majority of the school, however, knew about as much of that study as the natives in our far Eastern possessions know. "He was easily frustrated, and I may add, he was frequently in a perturbed condition.

When he was interrupted in his lecture he called out the recalcitrant who was the occasion of the interruption and quizzed him with severity. "He always gave the boy a chance to justify himself, but if the boy failed, as was apt to be the case, he left it to the other pupils to say whether the boy should be punished. In other words, he polled the school. He called the roll and voted the aves and noes. "If the ayes had it, the old pedagogue then submitted the question as to what the punishment should be. As he called each boy's name he asked, 'How shall Master --- be punished, by switch on the back, spanking or by the ferule on the hand?
